

Tuition and Registration Fees for Students Participating in Sponsored Projects

Sponsored Project proposal budgets should include reimbursement by the sponsoring agency to cover tuition of graduate students participating in sponsored projects unless this cost is specifically disallowed in the sponsor's written guidelines, or for other documented reasons. In those cases where this cost is specifically disallowed by written guidelines or other documented reasons, and the University approves submission of the proposal, the College, School or other appropriate Unit will pay the cost of tuition for participating students.

Revised August 23, 2010

June 10, 1992